TWO FICTION SUCCESSES

LUCAS MALET'S NEW BOOK

The Score

Out in the Open Miserere Nobis $1.50

"The wonderful insight with which she probes the innermost depths of two strong modern natures, whose highly developed intellects are for a time unable to silence elemental passion; the consummate skill with which the mature age of the heroine is made to tell in the struggle between passionate folly and expediency; the subtle influence of the actress' profession over her woman's instinct—all bear the stamp of the finished artist."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A Tale of Deep Sea Adventure

There She Blows!

A Whaling Yarn

By JAMES COOPER WHEELER

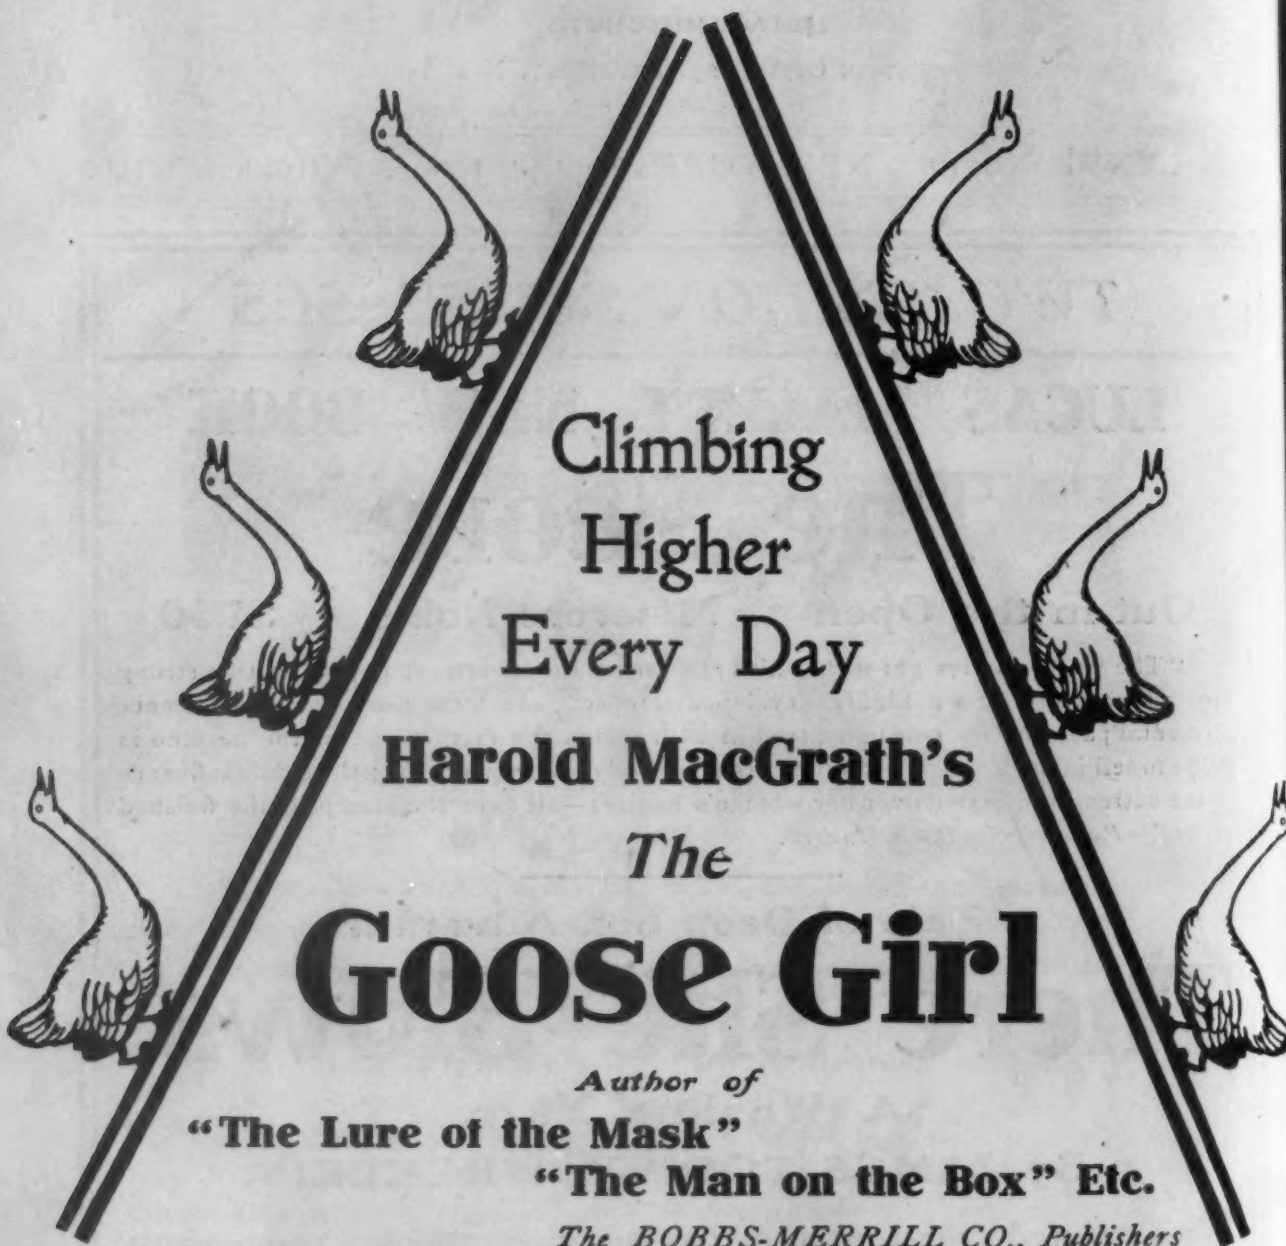

With colored frontispiece and other illustrations. 12mo, cloth,
Net, $1.20

"The whole production is full of forceful swing and inspiring rhythm as a genuine, full-throated chanty heard across a vivid, crisping sea."—Chicago Record Herald.

MR. WILLIAM MORRIS has for years been one of America's most stalwart defenders of refinement and cleanliness on the vaudeville stage. His brilliant fight during the past two years to maintain his independence as a manager and his success in establishing a transcontinental chain of high-class vaudeville theatres are fresh in the public mind. He has read "The Bill-Toppers" and this is his opinion of Mr. Castaigne's novel:

"I regard Andre Castaigne's story, 'The Bill-Toppers,' as a remarkable accomplishment. I do not know of any field of work that has been so aptly portrayed as is the work and life of the vaudeville artist in this book.

"The pages seem to breathe with vaudeville stage life, told in a breathless, pepper and salt, telegraphic style that helps to build up the reader's excitement.

"The story is fairly soaked with human nature and shows, as it should, that music-hall folk are just as human as their audiences. So far as the plot itself is concerned, I enjoyed it as thoroughly as any modern story that I can recall."—

WILLIAM MORRIS. "The Bill Toppers" will be published September 11th.

—Buffalo Express.

"As thrilling, dramatic, realistic as anything from his pen."

—N. Y. Globe.

"The best thing 'Ralph Connor' has done since 'The Sky Pilot.'"

—N. Y. Times Review.

"We are able to give no real idea of the intense and gripping interest that the story arouses. One almost feels at the end of the story that one's own best friend is gone."

—Rochester Herald.

"Had 'Ralph Connor' never written a book before, 'The Doctor' would create a sensation just as surely as 'The Sky Pilot' did."

—Book Section Powers.

The Enduring Novelist of the Century

Nine years ago the editor of The Globe-Democrat, of St. Louis, prophesied: "'Ralph Connor' is some man's nom de plume—the world will insist upon knowing whose—and he will not long be able to conceal his identity."

To-day "Ralph Connor" is known the world around as the pen name of Charles W. Gordon, an author whose works are enduring and who, by many, is considered the real representative American novelist of the twentieth century.

A Woman for Mayor

¶ After 50 days on the retail counter (50 days of hot weather, at that,) "A Woman for Mayor" has reached its third and largest edition.

¶ On the strength of this showing a few advertising tests have been made in average localities with the result that the public has responded effectively.

¶ We have, therefore, decided to advertise "A Woman for Mayor" generously over the country during the fall season leading up to the holidays.

¶ The book is handsomely made and will attract attention wherever displayed. Over 200 newspaper and magazine reviews (most of them reviews of extra length) credit it with being an unusually strong piece of fiction.

¶ Prominent people in various parts of the country—mayors, politicians, lawyers, doctors, preachers and political economists—have been interviewed by the press concerning Miss Winslow's story. While opinions differ as to the political significance of the novel, all are agreed that the author has been exceptionally clever in both plot and story; that she has shown how woman may retain all her womanly qualities and still take an interest in the questions which involve the betterment of the community in which she lives.

Full of excitement and plausibility and the love thread is most pleasing.—Baltimore American.

Shows the ease with which a woman may be chosen when men fail utterly to treat correctly great moral questions.—New York Herald.

It is a vivid, well-told story.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Contains a great deal of lively repartee and clever talk. The love story is fully up to requirements.—Buffalo Evening News.

The author has a good story to tell and she tells it in a quick, direct, modern fashion sure to be popular.—Ohio State Journal.

How love can enter into politics and return spotless is told in a highly entertaining manner.—Omaha Herald.

Miss Winslow is not an extremist, and her doctrines will, in the main, be accepted as sound.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Miss Winslow has written a story that every suffragist will hug to her bosom, and that every good natured opponent will concede is clever.—Chicago Examiner.

A most opportune story.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The romance and the problem are blended very deftly and with results that are extremely happy.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Rather a fire-brand title, but after reading the novel one is surprised at the moderation displayed.—Portland Oregonian.

It is a bright, pleasing story, emphasizing the fact that a woman may exercise all privileges and still lose no whit of her daintiness, womanliness and attractiveness.—Albany Times Union.

One need not be a suffragette to find "A Woman for Mayor," an absorbing story.—St. Louis Times.

Miss Winslow has made a distinctly valuable contribution to the literature of woman suffrage.—Boston Globe.

A brand new municipal idea.—Cincinnati Daily Star.

The book shows that woman was created for the home, to use her good influence there, and the holding of public office is intended for men.

JAMES C. DAHLMAN, Mayor of Omaha.

¶ We earnestly recommend buyers to stock this book for the fall trade, assuring them that we will put a substantial advertising campaign behind their efforts.

Standard novel size, 12mo. Bound in maroon cloth. Striking four-colored jacket. Illustrated in colors by Walter Dean Goldbeck

OLD FASHIONED FAIRY TALES

Retold by MARION FOSTER WASHBURNE; Illustrated by MARGARET ELY WEBB

The text is printed in large type on India tinted paper, and profusely and charmingly illustrated. Besides the small pictures scattered through the book, there is a beautifully colored full-page picture for each story, which gives it a realistic touch.

8vo, novelty cloth binding, stamped in gold. Illustrations printed in flat poster colors. ....$1.25

THE LITTLE LAME PRINCE

By MISS MULOCK; Illustrated by HOPE DUNLAP

Never has there been written a sweeter or more fascinating fairy story than that of "The Little Lame Prince". Those who recall the gorgeous illustrations of "The Muffin Shop" will be equally delighted with Miss Dunlap's work in "The Little Lame Prince". In some of the beautifully colored plates, processions in brilliant array sweep by in mediæval splendor; while in others are shown the fairy godmother in her starry robe, and the Prince enjoying a trip in his magic traveling cloak.

What the Pine Tree Heard

A story of a little child to whom came the light.

The Grey Story Book

Eight stories for little folk, each demonstrating the true sense of prayer.

On the Way There

A wonder tale for boys and girls, little and grown tall.

By the Wayside

In which Marjorie learns that work needs love and thought as well as hands.

Through the Woods

Wherein Marjorie meets with her "brothers" and a number of experiences.

At the Door

Marjorie finds further wisdom in her wanderings and discovers "her Father's house."

Cheery and the Chum

A tale of two very young people and of what they saw and did on a farm.

PUBLISHERS of forthcoming books to be issued during the Fall season of 1909 are reminded that the Fall Announcement Number of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, to be issued under date of September 25, is in many respects one of the most important issues of the year. Booksellers, generally, find it valuable in making up their holiday orders and for descriptive selections for their own catalogues and circulars. Librarians also use it extensively in making up their purchase lists for the new season. Note then :

FIRST. That the dictionary reference list of new books in that issue will be made up as complete as possible from material procurable between now and September 10. It is therefore very important for all publishers to send us at the earliest possible moment lists of their announcements, giving as much data as practicable of all forthcoming works.

SECOND. That the number is especially valuable for advertising, since an advertisement supplements the reference list and keeps the advertiser's descriptive announcements immediately before the buyer during the period he is planning for the new season.

The bookseller, naturally, expects to find the leading books featured in the advertising pages, and his judgment is largely influenced by the publisher's confidence in his leaders as shown by his advertisement. The publisher cannot expect the dealer to stock up on books that are apparently not of sufficient importance to be advertised.

Advertising rates same as for regular issues.

NOTES IN SEASON.

EDWARD STERN & COMPANY, INC., Philadelphia, has now ready "Ballads of a Cheechako," by Robert W. Service, author of "The Spell of the Yukon: Songs of a Sourdough." Upwards of 50,000 copies of Mr. Service's poems have been sold in less than two years since their appearance, and the new book will find a waiting public.

L. C. PAGE & Co. are to be congratulated on the possession of a sequel to L. M. Montgomery's "Anne of Green Gables." This time she is "Anne of Avonlea," is seventeen, and a teacher in the high school just started in the district in which Green Gables is located. We are happy to know Anne will visit us once more in the concluding book of her biography.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. call attention to Mrs. Katherine Yates's first long story, entitled "Chet," from its hero, a virile, fun-loving boy who learns his most important lessons from a winsome girl companion. The book is illustrated by H. S. De Lay. Seven of Mrs. Yates's stories are on the McClurg list and all will be ready for the holidays.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY publish September 10 "The Greater Power," by Harold Bindloss, a robust outdoor novel telling the story of the remaking of a man who had failed in London, in the great Western forests of the United States; and "Felicitia," by Christopher Hare, a new volume in the Little Novels of Famous Cities Series, this one being laid in old Siena.

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. have two books for people who are thinking about the two most important world problems to-day. Legend tells us woman first brought trouble into a perfect world. Cicely Hamilton's "Marriage As a Trade" tells us why she is in trouble yet; and Dr. Saleeby's "Parentage and Race Culture" treats of the limitation of marriage based on sound laws of eugenics.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY are making a popular edition, limited to 100,000 copies, of Ralph Connor's, (Charles W. Gordon,) "The Doctor," a tale of the Rockies, perhaps as thrilling, dramatic and interesting as anything from his pen. The book is not a "cheap book," but is printed from the original plates, bound in handsome cloth and supplied to the trade at less than half the trade price.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY ask their friends in the trade to remember that from now on "Arsène Lupin's" American address is 133 East 16th Street, New York City. Edgar Jepson has made a novel of M. Leblanc's play now running and it will be ready during the month. Next spring they promise "Arsène Lupin Against Herlock Sholmes," the remarkable serial now appearing in Short Stories; and after that is scheduled M. Leblanc's new story, "The Hollow Needle," which is just about to begin its career in McClure's Magazine.

THE CENTURY COMPANY publish September 11 "Robert Fulton and the 'Clermont,'" the authoritative story from manuscripts hitherto unprinted, gotten up as a souvenir of the great Fulton-Hudson celebration, by Alice Cray Sutcliffe, great-granddaughter of the inventor; "Zandrie," by Marian Edwards Richards, the story of a convent-bred orphan full of dreams and fancies; "Municipal Government," by F. C. Goodnow; and "Little Sister Snow," the first book the author has published since she so decidedly made her mark with "The Lady of the Decoration."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books issued by publishers who protect the prices of their new publications are preceded in this list by the double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. Works of fiction (not net) of which a minimum price is protected by their publishers, are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not protected are preceded by a single asterisk *, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (2mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Andrews, L.: Robins. The white peril; or, how I cured myself of consumption at home. Rev ed., ed. and comp. by Athole Burnett Reader. Danbury, Ct., White Peril Co., 1909. c. '04. 9-193 p. por. D. cl., $1.

First published in 1904. Now brought up to date. Dwells especially upon the necessity of will power to fight this dread disease. The new preface has been written by Reynold Webb Wilcox, for twenty-three years professor at the New York Post-Graduate Medical School.

Barbour, J.: The Bruce; ed. by W. M. Mackenzie. N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. 23+547 p. 12°, cl., $1.90 net.

This edition of Barbour's poem, "The Bruce," is based upon a careful study and comparison by the editor of the two manuscripts of the work in existence, one at Edinburgh and one at Cambridge. There has been no modernization of the language, the difficult parts being explained in the notes. A historical and critical survey by the editor precedes the text.

Barker, Elsa. The son of Mary Bethel. N. Y., Duffield & Co., 1909. c. 549 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.

Story of a New England reformer, which is the story of Christ in modern environment. The personages familiar to the Christ story—Peter, John, Lazarus, Mary Magdalen, etc.—are all drawn in modern guise, and the events in which they take leading parts are the modern parallels of the incidents described in the Gospel narrative.

Björnson, Björnstjerne. Mary; tr. from the Norwegian by Mary Morison. N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. 234 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Story of the life of a Norwegian girl—its joys, sorrows and ideals—revealing intimate and charming pictures of life in Norway, together with glimpses of Paris, to which the scene at one time changes. These familiar with the writings of the great Norwegian novelist will welcome this addition to the series being brought out under the editorship of Edmund Gosse.

Blanchard, Amy Ella. The four Corners abroad. Phil., George W. Jacobs & Co., 1909. c. 417 p. pls. D. (Corner ser.) cl., $1.50.

These four charming girls after being at school and in California go abroad. During the regulation sightseeing they manage to have a thoroughly good time, with just a few scrapes and stirring experiences to keep up the growing interest in the adventures of these typical American girls. The 4th of July in Paris, a glimpse of Spain, Munich and London all leave them lasting memories.

Bourne, Gilbert C. Comparative anatomy of animals. v. 1. 2d ed. N. Y., Macmillan, [1909.] price raised from $1.10 net to $1.40 net.

Brassey, T.: Allnutt, ed. The Naval Annual, 1909. N. Y., Scribner, [imported,] 1909. 5+440 p. il. pls. tabs., O. cl., $6 net.

The editor has been responsible for the Annual for the past 20 years. An item of interest this year is the article on German naval expansion by Mr. Leyland. Germany is building nine or ten new ships, the United States six, the United Kingdom five.

Bronson, Walter Cochrane, ed. English poems selected and edited with illustrative and explanatory notes and bibliographies; the Elizabethan age and the Puritan period, (1550-1650.) Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1909. c. 18+543 p. D. cl., $1 net; lib. ed., $1.50 net.

Editor is professor of English literature in Brown University. This is the second volume in a set of four intended especially for use with college classes. The method of selection followed is to choose poems representing different schools of poetry; as far as possible to print entire poems or entire parts of poems; to follow the latest accessible text approved by the author; to modernize spelling and punctuation as a rule; and in the notes to explain difficulties of expression and variant readings. Two-fifths of this volume are given up to Spenser, Shakespeare and Milton, the remaining three-fifths to sixty minor poets of the Elizabethan age.

Caine, T. H.: Hall. The white prophet: a novel; il. by R. Caton Woodville. N. Y., Appleton, 1909. c. 613 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.

The author of "The Christian" takes as his hero a Mahdi of almost Christ-like character. The Commander-in-chief of the British forces of Egypt and the Consul General order the son of the Consul General to "smash the Mahdi." His conscience as a man forbids him to do his duty as a soldier. He gives up his sword and follows the Mahdi. The woman he loves also follows the Mahdi from motives of revenge. The plot is intricate; the end delicately brought about. Incidentally there is some criticism of England's rule in Egypt and among her other colonial possessions.

Callahan, Maud Fulcher. Evolution of the constitution of West Virginia. Morgantown, W. Va., West Virginia University, 1909. c. 40 p. O. (West Virginia University studies in West Virginia history; ed. by J. M. Callahan; Constitutional history.) pap., 50 c.

Dole, C: Fletcher, D.D. The ethics of progress; or, the theory and practice by which civilization proceeds. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1909.] c. 7+398 p. O. cl., $1.50.

The author sets himself the difficult task of defining right and wrong per se. The design of the book is to set forth a simple, vital principle of conduct which shall govern all doubtful points for the ultimate good of both the individual and the race. The effort is made to treat all questions without theological or other bias, but solely upon the ground of human welfare. It is an interesting discussion, involving many delicate definitions and essays in pure logic, and one which should attract the thoughtful reader irrespective of creed or non-creed; for these problems enter into the daily life of all the people, and upon their just solution depends the further progress of civilization. Contents: Ethics and evolution; The doctrine of good will; Conscience and the right; Moral evil: how to treat it; The problems of human nature; The realm of casuistry; Problems in practice.

Francis, Alexander. Americans: an impression. N. Y., Appleton, 1909. 256 p. O. cl., *$1.50 net.

The author went to America to study the country and conditions, especially the consequences of the meeting of the many races of immigrants and the educational work being done for them, notably for the Jews. The earlier chapters of his book were written in America, the later ones in England; the whole work was revised in Russia, where the author was able to study the democracy seen in England and America in contrast with the autocracy of the Russian Empire. The several chapters of the book first appeared in the London Times. The preface summing up the work was written in Calcutta. Truly the author has seen enough peoples to make his verdicts carry weight.

The Eaton Professor of Administrative Law and Municipal Science in Columbia University covers the various phases, the merits and demerits of municipal government, not only in this country, but abroad; not only to-day but in the past. The author gives a helpful list of authorities he has used. It has been his hope that the work "might prove of value to that increasing body of students in colleges and high schools who devote some portion of their time to the study of municipal government and be of interest to that part of the general public, apparently also increasing in number, who are endeavoring to solve the problems arising in connection with urban development."

Rowell, Harvey. Allan, son of a gunmaker. N. Y., Cochrane Publishing Co., 1909. c. 208 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The time is just after the close of the Revolutionary War at a time when the Colonies which had just freed themselves from English rule were loosely held together by the articles of Confederation. The story contrasts the relative importance of wealth on the one hand with invention and skill on the other. In 1784 the story opens. Allan shows true patriotism, love of freedom, devotion to duty and later—devotion to a girl as charming as they made them 100 years ago.

Sangster, Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Munson. From my youth up: personal reminiscences. N. Y. and Chic., Revell, [1909.] c. 332 p. por. O. cl., **$1.50 net.

Mrs. Sangster tells her story of home life and cheery help for others with her well-known sympathy and good taste. Her life has been a busy one and her writings have put her in touch with readers all over the United States. She calls upon her new readers to do "whatever they attempt with both hands and all their hearts, thinking less of the wage than of the work."

Saunders, Catharine. Costume in Roman comedy. N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. 10+145 p. 12°, (Columbia Univ. studies in classical philology.) cl., **$1 net. Bibliography (3 p.).

Sears, Lorenzo. Wendell Phillips, orator and agitator. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1909. c. 379 p. por. D. cl., **$1.50 net.

Wendell Phillips gave his best years to the anti-slavery agitation, the most important episode of United States history in the last century. Dr. Sears sums up with authority and distinction the life work of the great orator and reformer from the standpoint of the present day.

Sera, Leo G. On the tracks of life; the immorality of morality; tr. from the Italian by J. M. Kennedy; with an introd. by Dr. Oscar Levy. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. 335 p. O. cl., **$2.50 net.

A study of true values in such subjects as love, the origin of society, genius, modesty and shyness, sex, morals, ideals, etc. The author thinks a new philosophical period is preparing and thinks if we are to make good philosophical progress, "our concrete knowledge of moral man must inevitably be revised." It is his aim to assist in this revising.

Sonnichsen, Albert. Confessions of a Macedonian bandit. N. Y., Duffield & Co., 1909. 268 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.

Relating the adventures of a daring journalist.

- Tate, G. P. The frontiers of Baluchistan: travels on the borders of Persia and Afghanistan; with an introd. by Col. Sir H. McMahon. N. Y., Scribner, [imported,] 1909. 15+261 p. front. in col. pls. fold. maps, cl., *$5 net.
One portion of these sketches of desert life deals with the vast district between Quetta and Persia, the larger portion describes the country of Seistan, which Nature had bounteously endowed with every gift of water and soil, and which has become a desert by man's own handiwork and folly. The author does not dwell upon the political duties which led him to the desert, but describes the people and their surroundings with rare power.
- Theiler, Rev. H. The candle as a symbol and sacramental in the Catholic church; tr. from the German by Rev. J. F. Lang. N. Y., Fr. Pustet & Co., 1909. c. 93 p. S. cl., 50 c.
Shows the important significance of candles in the church and instructs readers on the blissful effects in which they may share through blessed candles.
- Thomas-Stanford, C. Leaves from a Madeira garden. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. 290 p. pls. D. cl., $1.50.
Describes an uneventful winter in the little island of Madeira. Describes also the mountain scenery not surpassed in beauty and perhaps the finest vegetation of the world. Madeira is under the Portuguese government and the writer criticises its method of government.
- Thoreau, H. D. The Maine woods; il. by Clifton Johnson. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1909.] c. 423 p. O. cl., **$2 net, boxed.
Thoreau's "Cape Code" with Johnson's illustrations proved a great success last year. Mr. Johnson is a photographer of national repute and he follows Thoreau with a fine understanding of his text and with an unerring eye for camera effects. There are 33 full-page plates. Thoreau studied the woods in 1846 and 1857, but nature has not yet been driven from the Maine woods by "vacationists" and the artist found the conditions little changed.
- Upton, G. Putnam. Standard concert repertory and other concert pieces; a handbook of the standard overtures, suites, symphonic poems, rhapsodies, fantasies, etc., in the modern concert repertory, for the use of concert goers. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1909. c. 449 p. pors. D. cl., $1.75.
Companion volume to "Standard operas" and "Standard concert guide." The sketches are intended for amateurs and have been made as brief as possible because of their considerable number. They include all important works in the current repertory. The excellently annotated programme books of the Boston Symphony and Theodore Thomas orchestra concerts have been used to supplement the compiler's recollections. The sketches are arranged according to opus numbers when the composers have made that possible. Glossary of musical terms used.
- Van Dyke, H. Jackson, D.D. The music lover; with a front. by Sigismondi de Ivanowski. [New ed.] N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1909. c. '07. 31 p. front. D. bds., *50 c. net.

- Webb, Eugene G., comp. Webb's comparisons simplified number 2, probable phase; a book of unique and comprehensive insurance statistics; comparisons giving the "records and results" of twenty-seven legal reserve life insurance companies according to rank; also comparisons in parallel, compiled from the companies' sworn statements to the insurance departments, and other reliable sources, as of December 31, 1908. Springfield, Mass., Eugene G. Webb, 1909. c. 20+224 p. O. limp leath., $3.
- Webbing, W. Hastings. Fore!: the call of the links. Bost., H. M. Caldwell Co., [1909.] c. 73 p. il. por. D. bds., 75 c.
Poems relating to golfing, a game that gives its devotees ecstatic happiness. The book is for the man who can do eighteen holes in 130 and likes to read all that can be written about his pleasure. Prettily illustrated as a gift-book.
- Wenzlick, W., M.D. The greatest good of mankind: physical or spiritual life. Chic., [William Wenzlick, 1206 Laurence Ave.,] 1909. 24+374 p. D. cl., *$1.50 net.
Purports to be an argument between Dr. Faith and Dr. Fact. The object is "to agitate, urge and encourage others better qualified . . . to unite their efforts and promote some effective plan for the amelioration of suffering mankind." Author holds organized religions specially responsible for lack of real progress in the world. The author has studied life and lets both Dr. Faith and Doctor Fact teach his readers many things it is well for one and all to understand and think about. The great purpose is to make man healthy, happy and progressive in good living.
- Wheelock, Eleazar. A continuation of the narrative of the state, etc., of the Indian Charity School, at Lebanon, in Connecticut; from Nov. 27th, 1762, to Sept. 3d, 1765. Rochester, N. Y., [George P. Humphry, 65 Spring St., 1909.] 3-25 p. 8°, (Rochester reprints.) cl., $2. (Sold only in complete sets of 10 v.)
- White, Fred Merrick. The scales of justice. N. Y., John E. Kearney, 43 W. 27th St., 1909. 331 p. front. D. cl., $1.50.
The author of "The crimson blind" writes the story of a London man arrested on his wedding-day, who escapes from prison and spends his life in tracking down the enemy whose jealousy led to his undoing.
- White, Marian. The fuels of the household: their origin, composition and uses. Bost., Whitcomb & Barrows, 1909. c. 95 p. D. cl., *75 c. net.
Author is teacher of domestic science, McKinley Manual Training School, Washington, D. C. She addresses young housekeepers. She divides fuels into Solid fuels: mineral coal, coke and peat, wood and charcoal; Semi-solid fuels: fat, wax, stearin, spermaceti and paraffin; Liquid fuels: oils and alcohols; and Gaseous fuels: water gas, gasoline gas, acetylene gas, natural gas. Also includes instructions on the fireless cooker and electricity as a fuel.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 4, 1909.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

INTERNATIONAL PUBLISHERS' CONGRESS.

IN 1910, beginning June 27, the International Congress of Publishers, founded at Paris in 1896, will hold its seventh session at Amsterdam. The intervening sessions have been held at Brussels in 1897, at London in 1899, at Leipzig in 1901, at Milan in 1906 and at Madrid in 1908, and with each session the congress has grown in scope and in practical usefulness. It has had as president several of the most distinguished Continental publishers, including Herr Brockhaus, of Leipzig, and M. Fouret, the head of Hachette et Cie., of Paris. We believe it is the latter, honored among many American friends, who will preside over the Amsterdam Conference.

We take opportunity, at this early date, to express the hope, well in time for individual planning, that American publishers will take pains to be represented at this conference. The American Publishers' Copyright League is enrolled as one of the participating bodies, and at several of the congresses Mr. George Haven Putnam, as its secretary, has in his own solitary person, but always effectively, represented the American publishing trade. Once or twice another American has happened in, but there has never been an adequate delegation of American publishers. It is really the American Publishers' Association rather than the American Publishers' Copyright League which should be the participating organization from America, as the question of international copyright is only one among the many which has occupied practically the attention of the congresses.

An American statesman once made this country unpleasingly famous by his exclamation: "What have we to do with abroad?" This expressed a narrow view of world relationship, then only too common, but now passing away. It is true that American book-publishers as such, except as they arrange mutually for purchases of translations, have had little to do with Continental publishers. But with every year business relations in every trade are becoming more and more international, and in this field the American trade has really much to learn from Continental methods and experiences. We hope, therefore, that there may be an organized effort to send a fairly representative delegation of American publishers to meet their English brethren in attendance in this international gathering on the Continent; and this could best be done through the action of the American Publishers' Association, which may wisely broaden its scope beyond that particular feature of trade reform which was its original field.

UNDER the mutual arrangements of trans-Atlantic steamship lines no special concessions as to price are possible for delegates from this country to foreign conventions, but the lower rates prevail eastward to the 15th of May and westward to the 31st of July, for return from Europe and the Holland-American Line, which has now some of the best steamers afloat, will be prepared prior to those dates to assign especially good first-class cabins at the minimum first-class rates to any American delegates to the International Publishers' Congress. The secretary of the managing committee is Herr W. P. van Stockum, Jr., 1st van den Bosch Street, 17, The Hague, Holland, and information can also be had from Mr. George H. Putnam, in New York.

THE Trade List Annual for 1909 is ready. The fall trade promises to be the best we have had for many years. Do not lose a chance of selling a book because you do not know who publishes it or cannot quote inquiring customer the correct price. If you have had this massive volume you know how much you need it. If you have not had it, send for it and satisfy yourself why it has lived for thirty-seven years.

CENTENARY OF DR. OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

THE centennial anniversary of the birth of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, poet, physician and humorist, was observed quietly in the vicinity of Boston on August 29, the date recorded in pencil in a musty "Old Farmers' Almanac" in his first home. The only public observance was a service held in King's Chapel, in Tremont Street, Boston, which Dr. Holmes regularly attended for many years. The address was by the Rev. Charles E. St. John, of Philadelphia. At the Boston Public Library there was an exhibition of Holmes's works, portraits, pictures of scenes connected with his life, treasures and relics. The formal memorial observance had already been held in Sanders's Theatre, Cambridge, Mass., last April. When New York once more returns from vacation Dr. Holmes, as a medical man, will be the theme of a celebration which the County Medical Society will hold at the Academy of Medicine on October 9. Dr. M. H. Richardson, of the Harvard Medical School, will give personal reminiscences of Dr. Holmes; his achievements as a physician will be discussed by Dr. Edward O. Otis, of Boston, and Dr. William H. Thompson, of New York City, will speak upon "The Many Sided Holmes." The many critics in the many articles in magazines and papers may differ and some may deny Dr. Holmes's genius, but the judgment of the ages will certainly acclaim his gifts as those of inspiration. For solid wisdom in conduct and life among all sorts and conditions of men we know few enchiridia to compare with "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table."

HUDSON-FULTON EXHIBIT AT LENOX LIBRARY.

AN exhibition of prints, etchings, engravings and other pictures illustrating the history of Henry Hudson, Robert Fulton and the Hudson River, is now on public view at the Lenox Library, 70th Street and Fifth Avenue. The exhibition constitutes the New York Public Library's part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Frank Weitenkampf, curator of the print department, has arranged the collection of pictures in three sections. The first, called "Henry Hudson and the Discovery of the Hudson River," is small on account of the lack of authentic material. It includes engraved portraits based upon the doubtful paintings in the City Hall, photographs and reproductions of paintings by Albert Bierstadt, George Wharton Edwards and others. The second division illustrates "Robert Fulton and Early Steam Navigation." There are portraits of Fulton copied largely from the paintings by West, as well as reproductions of Fulton's work as an artist. Fulton's boats and the steamboats prior to Fulton's time and subsequent to it are also shown. The third section includes views of the Hudson River from New York to its source, and contains many rare old prints of the seventeenth century and later.

Beginning at the Narrows, the entire extent of the river is covered by views, including several of the South Street water front and the Battery. There are many curious old prints of Castle Garden when there was still water between it and Manhattan. The prints range in date from copper engravings done in the seventeenth century to photographs made this year. There are also many rare examples of the work of Hartgers and Visscher, and other early views of New York, and photographs representing the changing skyline of lower Manhattan.

THE POPULAR NOVELS IN JULY.

5. The White Mice. Davis. Scribner..	84
6. The White Sister. Crawford. Macmillan.....	74

POSTAL MATTERS.

CONTRACT FOR BILLIONS OF POSTALS.

THE contract for supplying 3,487,000,000 postal cards to the Postoffice Department during the four years beginning January 1, 1910, was awarded by Postmaster-General Hitchcock to the Government Printing Office, which submitted the lowest bid, $934,717.95. There were two other bidders, one being the Oxford Paper Company, of Rumford Falls, Me., which has furnished postal cards to the government for the last four years. Since postal cards were first introduced in this country in 1873, the number used in the United States has increased from 31,000,000 in that year to 950,049,020 in 1909.

One of the innovations of the new cards will be a card much smaller than the present size, which can conveniently be used for index purposes. Business men who send out postcards for collection of statistics and similar purposes have made it known that it would be very convenient if there could be a size of card just large enough to be used for index purposes. The Post-Office Department has adopted the suggestion.

With the exception of the index cards the other cards will be the present size, but the design, color and finish of paper will be improved.

FOREIGN LETTERS TO BE SENT FROM STEAMER TO DESTINATION.

AN important change has been made in the ocean mail transfer service in New York harbor, which will result in expediting foreign mail to its final destination in the United States. An order has been issued by Postmaster-General Hitchcock that mail clerks on the ocean liners shall separate all sacks of mail for the interior of the country from those labelled "New York City." Hereafter two transfer tenders will meet each incoming liner at Quarantine, instead of one, as formerly. One will take mail for all railroad stations, including the Grand Central Station. The other will handle the sacks for New York City.

With this change it will be possible to get the foreign mail aboard trains for the West and South by connections previously missed through the indirect method.

POST-CARD NOTES.

JOSEPH KOEHLER, 150 Park Row, New York, has published a series of postcards commemorative of the Hudson-Fulton celebration. There are four subjects in the set. The cards are embossed in colors, and sell to the trade at 75 cents per 100 or $6 per 1000.

O. W. WALLIS, a Chicago Grand Army man of Columbia Post, made a hit by getting out in advance of the Salt Lake Encampment of the G. A. R. a large edition of souvenir postcards, carrying on a blue ground the badge of the Grand Army and the corps badges of all the divisions of the Union forces from 1861 to 1865.

OBITUARY NOTES.

PETER M. GIETMAN, for many years connected with the house of C. M. Barnes-Wilcox Company, of Chicago, formerly with C. N. Caspar, of Milwaukee, died August 26 at his home in Maywood, Chicago. Mr. Gietman was born in Hamburg, Germany, in 1864 and was well posted in the German and American booktrade.

CHARLES F. WINGATE, a brother of General George W. Wingate, of Brooklyn, died at his home, Twilight Park, Greene County, N. Y., on Tuesday, August 31. He was born in Manhattan in 1847, and had been a ship broker, a newspaper writer and a sanitary engineer. He was the founder and secretary of the Twilight Club, which established Twilight Park in the Catskills. Mr. Wingate had written a number of books and many articles on landscape gardening and sanitary work.

GEORGE MANVILLE FENN, the well-known editor and writer of novels and boys' stories, died in London on Friday, August 27. He was born at Westminster, England, in 1831. Mr. Fenn was at one time editor of Cassell's Magazine and editor and proprietor of Once a Week. He was a frequent contributor to Chambers's Journal, All the Year Round and other magazines, his short tales and magazine sketches numbering more than one thousand. Mr. Fenn wrote more than one hundred novels. Among the best known are "Alisa Grey," "The Vibart Affair," "Aynsley's Case," "Blind Policy," "A Country Squire," "The Parson o' Durnford," and "Black Shadows."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

HAMLIN GARLAND has reconsidered his determination to write no more novels and to devote himself to plays. He is engaged upon a new novel which will soon be published by Harper Brothers.

THOMAS NELSON PAGE has just returned from Europe and is making his final revision of "John Marvel, Assistant," now running in Scribner's Magazine as a serial. The book will be published this fall.

CAPTAIN JOHN D. WHIDDEN, author of "Ocean Life in the Old Sailing Ship Days," has just received a notification from Washington that his book is to be purchased for all ships' libraries and naval stations. The men in the navy will appreciate, as no others can, the tremendous distance that separates the conditions portrayed by Captain Whidden from those existing to-day, but it is doubtless true that not a few adventurous spirits would gladly exchange the prosaic comforts of to-day for the hazards and adventures that fell to the lot of Captain Whidden in his youth.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

CHARLES C. THOMPSON Co., Chicago, have just ready "Automobile Troubles and How to Remedy Them," by Charles P. Root, former editor of Motor Age, a very useful book treating chiefly of repairs and adjustments.

OUTING PUBLISHING COMPANY, 315 Fifth Avenue, New York City, will publish "A Guide to the Country Home," by Edward Kneeland Parkinson; and "Tracks and Tracking," by Joseph Brunner, both fully illustrated.

THE AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION has transferred its headquarters from Boston to No. 1 Washington Street, Chicago. Owing to delay incident to moving, orders for publications cannot be filled from Chicago for a few days.

H. W. WILSON COMPANY, Minneapolis, Minn., have revised to August, 1909, their "Directory of Booksellers in United States and Canada," a selected list of 4570 booksellers, newsdealers, etc., including 587 new names for this sixth edition of the work. They have also a "Directory of Libraries" having upwards of $1000 income per annum, which includes 4500 names.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY announce for September the following works of fiction: "Cardillas," by Robert Barr; "The Flute of the Gods," by Marah Ellis Ryan; "The Veil," by Ethel Stefana Stevens; and "Beechy; or, the Lordship of Love," by Bettina von Hutten. "Massys," "Michaelangelo," "Goya" and "Gainsborough" will be added to the Painters Series, and most of their juveniles for the holidays will also appear during the month.

D. APPLETON & Co. will have one of the eagerly expected books of the season in Robert W. Chambers's "The Danger Mark," of which the first edition runs to 100,000 copies. Much has been said about the boy and girl who are left in guardianship of a trust company, being drawn from real life, and curiosity has been stirred to the utmost about these very modern and very human young people. The novel is illustrated by B. Wenzell.

R. F. FENNO & Co. will bring out in September a new novel by William W. Canfield, author of "Legends of the Iroquois," etc., entitled "Along the Way." It is a story of travel in America, out of which is developed the existence of various changes in this country, political and otherwise, that involve the principal characters of the romance in unlooked-for complications. A colored frontispiece and four character sketches are by Sidney K. Hartman.

DEWOLFE FISKE & COMPANY, Boston, call attention to their preparations for the holidays. Their long line of popular series is now on exhibition at their Eastern agency, Donald W. Newton, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, or at their Western agency, Brewer, Barse & Co., 300 Wabash Avenue, Chicago. It has been rumored at times that DeWolfe Fiske & Co. were out of the publishing business, but their advertisement in this issue completely refutes that rumor.

THE COCHRANE PUBLISHING Co. have brought out "Allan, Son of a Gunmaker," by Harvey Rowell; "A Slight Indiscretion," by N. Y. Homer, and "Storm Bound," by A. L. Hutchinson. They announce during the coming fortnight: "The Poplars," by Francis A. Taulman; "Educational System of Pennsylvania," by J. M. Yetter; "Idylls of the King," by Rev. Walter Spence; "The Lost Mine of the Mono," by C. H. Klette; and "The Picnic," by Blanche M. Lauck.

MARTINUS NIJHOFF, The Hague, Holland, has just issued "Henry Hudson in Holland," by Henri C. Murphy, United States Minister to the Hague when he published this book in 1859. The book is now reprinted with all the documents reproduced and the bibliography verified. The little booklet now collects for the first time all the documents relating to the third voyage that are at present known to exist in Dutch. The publication will be handled in the United States by Tice & Lynch, 16 Beaver Street, New York City.

HOUGHTON MIFFLIN Co. will publish September 18 "Oliver Wendell Holmes: the Autocrat and His Fellow Boarders," by Dr. Samuel M. Crothers, who was one of the leading speakers at the formal memorial observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, held at Sander's Theatre, Cambridge, Mass., last April. The book will appear as one of the little series of Centennial Books About Great Men, in which we already placed Charles Eliot Norton's "Longfellow" and Bliss Perry's "Whittier."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just issued "Mary," by Björnstjerne Björnson, the story of the life of a Norwegian girl, giving glimpses of Paris, which is added to the series edited by Edmund Gosse; "Costume in Roman Comedy," by Catherine Saunders, dealing with the period of Plautus and Terence; "Dynamos and Motors," by William S. Franklin and William Esty; and "Elements of Agriculture," by G. F. Warren, designed for high schools, academies and normal schools. Although only on the market within a month, the fourth edition of White's "A Certain Rich Man" is already called for.

J. B. LYON Co., Albany, N. Y., have just published for Frank Chamberlain a beautiful booklet of 101 pages, entitled "Hudson Tercentenary by Frank Chamberlain." It is a work of thorough research and historical interest called for by the approaching great celebration—a work of which the Hon. A. S. Draper, Commissioner of Education, and others well qualified to judge speak in high terms. It is bound in cloth, in two colors—one in orange, the Dutch color, (as it was a Dutch enterprise,) and the other in a beautiful blue. The lettering on the covers is in gold. The fixed and invariable price per copy for either color is 50 cents net. J. B. Lyon solicits and will fill orders promptly, and so, too, will A. H. Clapp, bookseller, Albany, and prominent stationers in other cities in New York State.

RAND, McNALLY & Co. have now ready "Old-Fashioned Fairy Tales," retold by Marion Foster Washburne, illustrated by Margaret Ely Webb; and a fascinating holiday edition of Miss Mulock's ever bewitching story, "The Little Lame Prince," with illustrations by Hope Dunlap, many of them in color. All the fine books for children on the list of this house have been freshened up and are sure of old and new popularity. Among the old favorites are "The Muffin Shop," by Louise Ayres Garnett; "Really Babies," by Elizabeth B. Brownell; "Peter Pumpkin in Wonderland," by Ida M. Huntington; "Little Rhymes for Little Readers," by Wilhelmina Seegmiller; "Japanese Fairy Tales," by Teresa Peirce Williston; "Child Stories from the Masters," by Maude Menefee; "The Sunbonnet Babies Book," by Eullie Osgood Grover, and many others.

JOHN LANE COMPANY have just ready "Sketching Grounds," the summer Studio number, which has as chief article "New York from the Harbor," and contains also articles on the Scottish borderland, Avignon and its neighborhood, Candebe-en-Caux and other beautiful spots known to artists, illustrated with about 250 pictures. On September 10 will be issued "Wits, Beaux and Beauties of the Georgian Era," by John Fyvie; "Gilbert K. Chesterton's 'Illustrated Biography of Bernard Shaw'; "On the Tracks of Life," a translation from the Italian of Dr. Leo G. Sera, who explains the aristocratic ideal of life in its triple aspiration towards leisure, power and love; "Laurus Nobilis," by Vernon Lee, a series of talks on art and life in which this brilliant essayist is at her best; and "Master Painters of Britain," the special extra number of The Studio, with 165 illustrations and text by Gleeson White, at one time editor of The Studio.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish during September, besides the books already announced in our issue of August 14, the following books: "Diamonds Cut Paste," by Agnes and Egerton Castle, a clever story which has been appearing serially in The Bookman; "When Snow is Sovereign," a romance of the glaciers, by Rudolph Stratz, translated from the German by Mary J. Safford; "The Island of Regeneration," by Cyrus Townsend Brady, author of "The Patriots," "Richard the Brazen," etc.; "The House on Cherry Street," another story of Colonial New York by Amelia E. Barr; "They and I," by the famous Jerome K. Jerome; "The Faith of His Fathers," a story of some idealists by A. E. Jacomb; "The Paladin," by Horace Annesley Vachell, whose previous stories, "Brothers" and "The Hill," are well known; "The City of Beautiful Nonsense," an idyllic story in the author's best vein by E. Temple Thurston; and "The Man in the Corner," a detective story by Baroness Orczy.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS publish September 15 "English Love Lyrics Old and New," edited by Horatio S. Krams, with reproduction of an illustration by Ryland, engraver to George III.; "San Celestino," a novel by John Ayscough, author of "Marotz;" and "Dromina;" and "A Quiz Book of Nursing for Teachers and Students," by Amy Elizabeth and Thirza A. Pope, which also has chapters on "Hospital Construction," by Bertrand E. Taylor, of the firm of Kendall, Taylor & Co., and "Hospital Accounting," by Frederick B. Morlok, chief clerk of the Presbyterian Hospital. On September 20 are due "Yzdra," a drama by Louis V. Ledoux, founded on the "Secreta Secretorum," a volume of advice to a ruler, a book published in the Middle Ages, gotten up by a Syrian physician, who passed it off as a translation from a lost work of Aristotle written to his pupil Alexander the Great, a work which was one of the most successful of historical literary forgeries; "The Wiving of Lance Cleaverage," by Alice MacGowan, a Tennessee story of two fine and generous, but wilful and headstrong spirits, who go through many emotions before their natures become attuned to each other.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY will publish in rapid succession during the month "Manors of Virginia in Colonial Times," by Edith Tunis Sale, with 77 illustrations and 22 coats of arms; "The Knock on the Door," by Robert Hichens, which opens in London, but changes to the Nile and the Egyptian pyramids, temples and desert, and tells a powerful story of the contest between materialism and idealism, between a man who loves the soul and a woman enslaved by the body; "Phoebe Deane," the story of a New York orphan in 1830, by Grace Livingston Hill Lutz, a continuation of her novel "Marcia Schuyler;" "The Clue," a detective story by Carolyn Wells; "The Key of the Unknown," by the late Rosa Nouchette Carey; "In Ambush," by Marie Van Vorst, the story opening in an Alaska mining camp, then moving to Egypt, and ending in Kentucky, and introducing a hero not always as good as he might have been; "The Man in the Tower," by Rupert S. Holland, an exciting novel of an Eastern potentate who has ruled for twenty years and never been seen by his subjects; and "Bronson of the Rabble," by Albert E. Hancock, a romance of old Philadelphia between the years 1812 and Andrew Jackson's inauguration in 1828. Many juveniles are also almost ready for the holiday season.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, or those advertising anonymously, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. All objectionable books will be excluded so far as they come under our notice.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplaced advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

JUST AN INTRODUCTION

TO A FEW OF OUR FALL NOVELISTS

ROBERT HICHENS

An introduction in this case is hardly necessary, as this noted author is regarded as a writer of the most perfect works of fiction of to-day. In his newest novel he has returned to Africa and written a powerful story, set in the valley of the Nile, infinitely more human than "The Garden of Allah." "Bella Donna" will be published early in October. ]

GRACE LIVINGSTON HILL LUTZ

When we tell you that Mrs. Lutz is the author of that charmingly delightful romance, "Marcia Schuyler," of which five editions have been sold, we know you will be interested to hear that her latest novel, "Phoebe Deane," of the same period and setting, will be ready about September 15th. "Phoebe" is every bit as appealing as "Marcia," and she creeps very close to one's heart and lingers there.

RUPERT S. HOLLAND

is a young Philadelphia lawyer, and is best known as a contributor to the leading magazines. He has that desirable quality so necessary to the success of the present day novelist—dash! Not since "The Colonel of the Red Huzzars" do we recall reading as exciting and stirring a novel as Mr. Holland has produced in "The Man in the Tower." Look for it the middle of September!

ALBERT E. HANCOCK

Here again is another Philadelphian to the fore! Mr. Hancock is Professor of English Literature in Haverford College, but don't let that cause you to think he can't write a rattling good story! His two former books, "Henry Bourland: The Passing of the Cavalier" and "A Life of John Keats" firmly established his reputation as a writer, and "Bronson of the Rabble" is bound to add to it! Ready late in September.

OUR OTHER FALL FICTION WILL INCLUDE THE LATEST NOVELS OF

CAROLYN WELLS
MARIE VAN VORST

ROSA NOUCHETTE CAREY
CRITTENDEN MARRIOTT
